THE SARL PLANS TWO ADDITIONAL VHF BEACONS

Over the past few months the Beacon Workgroup has been engaged in putting together a proposal for two additional beacons to be used for propagation studies. One beacon is to be deployed near Bethlehem in the Free State and a second beacon somewhere in the centre of the country equidistant from the Western Cape and Gauteng where the two centres of activity are on the VHF and above bands. The working group has made the decision to go ahead and procure the necessary equipment for the beacons and to deploy the beacon in Bethlehem first and use this site as the test site while efforts are made to procure a site in the central Karoo. A site has been identified in the Karoo and the working group is now busy putting a proposal together to take to the owner of the site.

The working group has also been discussing VHF propagation and forecasting over the inland areas. Along the coast there are the Hepburn charts, but these charts do not really help for the inland areas, or so it is believed. Over the last months some interesting correlations have been made between the actual propagation being experienced by the various forecasting models. It turns out that the Hepburn charts do give an indication of possible band openings inland. Even more interesting however, are the correlations being made between the actual propagation and some of the weather forecasting models available. Expect to hear more about this at one of the upcoming VHF/UHF and Microwave workshops and at the SARL Unlocking Amateur Radio Technology symposium in Stellenbosch on 12 April. Do no delay, book while you can still benefit from the SARL subsidised attendance fee. Details on www.sarl.org.za.

If you would like to be part of the VHF Working Group, send your Skype name to vhfnews@sarl.org.za and you will be included in the meetings.

TWO CONTESTS NEXT WEEKEND

The first RaDAR Challenge for 2019 takes place on Saturday 6 April from 00:00 UTC to 23:59 UTC with each RaDAR operator define his/her own operating time schedule. It is up to each individual to plan his/her maximum, single period, four hour ops and consider propagation with the ultimate goal of inter-continental RaDAR to RaDAR communications in mind. Share your plans with others to coordinate times. All amateur bands are allowed including cross band contacts via amateur radio satellites and CW, SSB, FM or any legal amateur radio digital mode can be used. The Challenge is not a "contest" as such, it's an individual challenge. Get all the information on page 30 of the 2019 Blue Book.

The first leg of the SARL VHF/UHF Digital Contest will be run from 10:00 UTC on Saturday 6 April 2019 to 10:00 UTC on Sunday 7 April 2019 with activity on 6, 4 and 2 metres, 70 and 23 cm and higher as per band plan. SARL HAMNET EASTERN CAPE ASSISTS THE MOUNTAIN CLUB OF SOUTH AFRICA WITH THEIR NATIONAL TRAINING MEET 2019.

Every two years the Mountain Club of South Africa host a national training meet, which is rotated around the country and hosted by various MCSA sections. This year the event was hosted by the Eastern Cape Section. It was held in the Baviaanskloof and ran from Wednesday 20 March to Sunday 24 March. Kudu Khaya was the base of operations and provided a great location for the JOC. Andrew Gray, ZS2G, Director SARL Hamnet Eastern Cape was tasked with keeping the MCSA members in contact with each other and for manning the JOC. Andrew set up a small team consisting of himself, Gert, ZS2GS, Colin, ZR2CRS and Jimmy, ZS2JIM, Glen, ZS2GV, Tony Allen, ZR2TX, and Dave Higgs, ZS2DH.

SARL Hamnet Eastern Cape deployed a portable UHF repeater at Bergplaas in the Baviaanskloof. Cross band repeaters were deployed to link the individual, the teams rotated through 3 scenarios on a one-per-day basis. The teams were issued radios with both the MCSA S&R frequency and an amateur VHF frequency backup channel. Each of the teams had a radio amateur in the team.

Colin, ZR2CRS and Jimmy, ZS2JIM manned the JOC - and not just from a radio perspective but logistically as well. This included signing members in and out as well as the issue and receipt of equipment and radios for the teams. In the final closing speeches on Saturday evening, SARL Hamnet was thanked and the appreciation of each of the team leaders and the event management team were also noted. A job well done! A full report will appear in the May Radio ZS.
